W. F. Walton, Editor and Proprietor.
T. R. Walton, Jr., Business Manager.

THE acts of the Democratic Convention of Kentucky, will be looked for eagerly by the Radical politicians all over the State, and the country. It is predicted by the papers of the Radical party, that there will be discord and dissension in our present Convention. We cannot, at the time of going to press, give our readers much information—but we cannot believe that our party, now in Convention assembled, will, so far forget the good of their party, as to allow themselves to be led into a wrangle, to the great detriment of the cause of Democracy. We know that our political enemies would rejoice to learn that there was a split in the party at Frankfort, but we have an abiding faith in the good sense of the men from the various counties of the State who have been sent as delegates to our Convention, and hence have no fears that they will do ought against the interest of the party who delegated them to act in the selection of candidates for State Officers.

SOUTH CAROLINA, so long under Radical misrule, and the State which has for many years past furnished a good market for Kentucky traders, is now being governed by a Conservative Republican, Chamberlain, and his administration is giving satisfaction to the honest masses, but the reverse to the thieves and scoundrels, who have plundered the old State ever since the close of the war. Her rice and cotton fields will again add millions to the wealth of the Nation, and peace and plenty be consequent upon good government. Governor Chamberlain will make a notch high upon the roll of honor by his conservative policy, and redeem his people from anarchy and ruin.

THE National Medical Association met in Convention at the city of Louisville, on last Tuesday, and it is said that a larger number of delegates never before met in council. From the city papers, we learn that great harmony prevailed, and that never, since the organization of the society, has there been greater enthusiasm amongst the members of the same. Eminent men of the Profession from all parts of the country, gathered in the Convention, and the result is quite favorable to the Medical fraternity. Such meetings are of much benefit to the country at large.

HON. CURTIS M. CLAY, the father of Abolitionism in this State, has abandoned the Radical party and thoroughly identified himself with the Democratic party. He was a delegate to the Convention yesterday.—He was an active party man in the "Liberal movement," and like many others of the more intelligent and moderate men of the Republican party, saw the utter ruin of the country if Radical measures should continue to prevail, and quit forever the cause which was leading us to a central despotism.

HON. CURTIS F. BURMAN, of Richmond, Ky., has been appointed Assistant Secretary of the United States Treasury. Major Burman is regarded as one of the best lawyers in Kentucky. He is said to be a highly educated man, and a fine orator. His appointment is thought to have been suggested by Secretary Bristow, and is regarded as an excellent choice by all who know him.

THE city of Louisville, by her authorities, has, by a suitable ordinance, forbidden the assembling of loafers and idlers upon the corners of her streets. The crowding of street corners greatly disturbs the people generally, and if such a law as the one adopted by the Louisville authorities, was made and enforced here, the public, especially the ladies, would be glad.

DR. JOHN BULL, the great patent medicine man of Louisville, died suddenly last week. He amassed a large fortune, which he left wholly to four children, in trust. He requested in his will that his business of compounding medicine be carried on, by a Mr. Kent, to whom he gives a salary of $6,000 per year.

MRS. TILTON wrote and sent a letter to Judge Neilson the other day, with the request to have it read in open court. This was refused. Probably "dear father" dictated it like he did in the chamber on that memorable night, when she was lying down with "folded hands and dreamy eyes."

PEOPLE in Florida are now enjoying all the luxuries common to us only in June and July—such as pears, berries, etc. Who would not like to habitate such weather as this in that land of flowers, fruits, and vegetables? We would not like the Alligators, however, nor the snakes and scorpions.

THE Local Option question has been voted on in many parts of the State at the recent May election, and about the same number of Precincts voted against as for it. There was a tie in one precinct in Jefferson county.

WE regret that at the hour we go to press (11 P. M.), our reports from Frankfort are so meagre that they are of little interest. Several of our delegates promised that they would promptly send us the acts and doings of the Convention, but we have nothing further than the Convention organized, with a large delegation, although no nomination had been made up to that time. Next week we will be able to give a full report. Until then, our readers who do not take the city papers, must "bide their time." From the status of affairs up to the organization of the Convention, we may safely predict that the first, second and third ballot will be taken ere a nomination for Governor will be made. If the foremost man, Gen. Williams, is not nominated on the third ballot, McCreary stock will advance rapidly for several subsequent ballots: then the excitement of the occasion may culminate in a "row," when the chances will be in favor of a "new man" if the rules of the organization are such as to admit of this contingency. However, it is hazardous to make any sort of a prediction, as the result of an excited political Convention is one of those things which it were even doubtful whether the Deity foreknows.

Amid the universal excitement over the gubernatorial contest, the minor officers receive but little attention. By reason of the "bartering schemes" which were proposed in the preliminary caucuses, it is equally difficult to name the nominee for any office on the ticket. Three-card-Monte is a surety compared to the doubtfulness of this Frankfort Convention.

OUR Republican friends will remember that the State Delegate Convention of Republicans of Kentucky, will be held at Louisville on the 13th inst. for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various State offices. Each county will be entitled to that Convention to vote for each one hundred votes cast for Grant in 1872, and one vote for each fraction of a hundred over fifty. We observe that Conventions are being held in the various counties of the State to select delegates to this Convention.

EX-GOVERNOR MAGOFFIN. We see by the letters of several Washington correspondents to papers in the West and South, that the name of ex-Governor Beriah Magoffin in connection favorably mentioned in connection with the Vice Presidency on the Democratic ticket. The people of the West and South know him well, and his name upon the ticket would give strength to the cause of true reform.—As Governor of this State he won a national reputation at a time when almost anarchy prevailed. A letter to the Cincinnati Commercial, from our national Capital, speaks his praise, and is significant.

KEY WEST, Florida, is again visited by the terrible "Yellow Jack," which seemed to have no fear of "Jack Frost." The result of its early appearance was to drive to their Northern homes about 25,000 persons who had "wintered" in the State to escape the frigid climate of Northern latitudes.

VICE PRESIDENT, Henry Wilson is on a tour through the West. Strange it is, a little, that while in Louisville, Frankfort, and Lexington, he was the honored guest of honorable gentlemen of the Democratic—rebel persuasion. Gen'l John C. Breckenridge entertained him at his residence.

A NEGRO murdered a white policeman named Frazier, in Nashville, last Saturday evening, and a mob took him from the jail, and after firing several shots into him, swung him over the suspension bridge; the rope broke and he tumbled over the rocks into the river, dead.

DOCTOR PAUL F. EVE, of the University of Nashville, and one of the leading surgeons of this country, has been selected to deliver an address upon surgery at the coming Philadelphia Centennial Celebration. Prof. Eve stands at the head of his profession in the South.

THE Jefferson Street Christian Church, of Louisville, has had 120 additions since Elder Geo. W. Sweeney has been conducting the meetings, which began about a month since.—Elder S. has been without help, and is said to be worn out with his long labors.

DEMOCRATIC officers were duly installed the other day in Pennsylvania—the first time in nine years. Surely that "tidal wave" rolls on, and it will yet reach from centre to circumference.

MISS IDA, a daughter of Morace Greeley, was united in marriage last week to Gen. Nicholas Smith, of Kentucky. They left immediately for an extended European tour.

A NELSON county mule is a success as a fox hunter. The Record says that one of them ran a grey fox half-a-mile the other day, caught up with, and stamped it to death.

ABOUT 600 medical gentlemen attended the National Convention at Louisville this week.

A CONSIDERABLE delegation of gentlemen from the various counties east of us, passed through town on Wednesday en route to the Convention.

THE Prince of Wales, who is heir apparent to the throne of England, has been made Grand Master of the United English Masons.

THE wife of Atwood, the forger, has brought a suit for divorce. It is known to our readers that he is in the State prison for 20 years.

DOUGLAS, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, was removed on Wednesday. Ex-Senator Pratt has accepted the position.

WAYNE COUNTY NEWS.

MONTICELLO, Ky., May 4th, 1875.

THE Court was organized this morning at 9 o'clock, Judge Owens, on the bench. By request of the Judge, Hon. J. S. Van Winkle, charged the Grand Jury in a short but exceedingly able speech. Judging from the appearance of the Grand Jury, violators of the law may look out for a new home. There was an unusual large crowd in attendance, and more than the usual amount of business done on the first day. There are very few appearances brought to this term. Some criminal cases to be tried, and will probably take up the full time allowed by law to complete the business of the term. Everybody seems to be in a good humor with each other. A very able speech was delivered by J. J. Richardson, after 9 o'clock, last evening, in the Courthouse. Monticello is looking up. The day past off quietly. In addition to the bar of this place, I notice in attendance J. E. Hays, J. A. Brents, J. S. Van Winkle and George Denny.

PLASKI COUNTY NEWS.

SOMERSET, Ky., May 4, 1875.

CARRIGAN, the man killer, is yet at large. It appears that the friends of the deceased do not intend to prosecute him, and we therefore, from past experience, suppose he will go free, at least, until the sitting of our next Grand Jury. Is it possible that men shall go on with their crimes, and the officers of the law will take no steps toward meeting out to them a just retribution? Our county Judge surely ought to take this case in hand, and see that Carrigan is brought up for trial. The good people of the county are worn out with officers who will not see the law executed. When men have a taste of holding office, it appears that they are ever afterward ready to conciliate matters with murderers, drunkards, and every one else—looking to the time when they may again seek an official berth. When your humble servant, hereafter casts a vote, it shall never be for any one who can give no evidence that he will execute the law of the land. Maj. Elliott, as town Marshal, exhibited the true type of a civil officer, by fearlessly and impartially, using his utmost to bring offenders to justice. He courted no man's favor, and all this, too, he did without any desire for gain from the proceeds of the office, but simply worked to put down all lawlessness. May others follow his noble example.

IN our town, we have a temporary inhabitant, who is noted for a vivid imagination, and far-fetched metaphors. We cannot say that he is the "father of liars," but he is surely very closely related to that gentleman. Some one suggests that by the aid of "jawbone," gas, and a good forearm, he might succeed in making a road to a first class spring. It has been said, that he predicts the Interior will lose a great many subscribers on account of its "What-Not." Well, if the Interior does go under on this account, we would advise the publishers to submit meekly to fate, and go to publishing ten cent novels, gleaned from the prolific imagination of this precious individual. We promise the commendation of the citizens of Somerset, for him—as an author of this class.

WE presume the day of small things is at hand, as we have lately heard a man tell a "fib" to sell a yard of red ribbon that cost a nickel.

WE had some excitement at our election here on last Saturday, most of which was due to the whisky that was issued unpurgedly by most, or all of those who ran the race through. We are sorry to herald the fact that some of our respectable citizens were drawn into the execution of measures that should be left to the monopoly of those who float down in the dregs of filthy society. True Democracy, or Republicanism, if you please, does not warrant the use of such intrigue as was employed by the friends of the candidates for the Magistracy. During the day, many were seen busily engaged using the bottle as a means of procuring votes, stepping their fellow-creatures in that liquid which causes men to do things contrary to themselves, and the opposite to all that is just and right. Towards the close of the day, and every log heaped around the two of the candidates were next a tie. Runners were sent to the country for votes; every available man was brought forward, and even the chancy youths and other mildred negroes were brought up and voted. We would ask by what law the negroes, who are here only temporarily, are allowed a vote, while contractors are refused that privilege. Late in the day, some assuming Gabriel, sounded the trumpet that resurrected an old negro eighty-four years of age, for whose burial clothes the county paid at least four years ago. He not having sufficient strength to walk, after being "limbered up," he was borne upon the wings of half-a-dozen dark colored sprites, to the voting place, where he exercised one of the privileges of free humanity. The first result of the election was the success of Wm. Waddle, Dem., and Joe Porth, who is a Fremont-Lincoln-Grant-Butler Republican, of the first degree to the office of Magistrate, and David Epperson, Dem., for Constable. It is painful to know, that some of the partisans came down so low, as to circulate so many low vile slanders, as to cause one Joe Salkee, to withdraw from the Magistracy race the day previous to the election, in utter disgust. These were scattered by the tight-squeeze, skin-flint, low-salary men, who were trying to run in their man ahead of the more liberal candidates. These are the kind of men that want the Doctors to sell their medicines at 10 per cent, and throw in a ton mile ride. Who leave temperance meetings when some noble heart proposes to vote more money to put down the liquor traffic. Who spend half an hour in jehing the merchant on a yard of calico, and ask him to "fling in a spoon of the best tea!"

—and who hires the honest, poor man, for fifty-cents per day, and pay him in corn at one dollar per bushel, at the end of the week, he having to shell it after supper.—We desire to say, that Joel W. Salkee was one of our best Magistrates, and had he continued in the race, he surely would have sat side by side with our other Joe, in our next County Court.

SOME of the fair ones of Somerset, think a Green Porch would enhance the value of their respective domiciles.

DICKY DOWSEY has suffered much lately, with pains in the lower extremities, supposed to be the fruit of wearing rubber hip-boots, while working in the tannery. Rubber goods that fit so closely as to prevent evaporation and ventilation from the system, are, no doubt, injurious to health.

AL. PARSONS, our present Marshal, is down with neuralgia of the bowels, and Johnnie Gover with pneumonia.

MISS PENA BROWN, daughter of J. N. Brown, of Point Isabel, died at W. R. Hansford's, Tuesday of last week. This notice will meet the eyes of many friends, who will be glad to know that she, during the last hours of her illness, gave abundant evidence that she was resigned to the will of God, and was ready to pass over the cold river of death, to the bright scenes awaiting her beyond the cares of life. She did not die as the Infidel will die.

DR. JEO. M. PERKINS has been elected President of our National Bank, to fill the place of Maj. Elliott, dec'd. He is worthy of this confidence.

THE Good Templars are having from two to fourteen addresses at each meeting.

TO FIND a Somerset gambling house, pass down Main Street, to twenty paces below Thompson's corner—halt—right-face—forward, march. Hallo, Bill!

WILL H. has said that the painters of Somerset ought to go to the relief of the Kansas sufferers, as they are good at making grain.

WE suppose Gibson Bro's., will soon have to engage a new salesman, as the Christian Church is soon to have a big meeting, conducted by the "big" preacher, and L. G. Surber. To make this meeting a success, we suggest Acts, 2d chap. 38th verse, as a text, and as a battle-song:

Water, water everywhere,
In the hills and in the air,
In the Church and on the street,
At the fireside—to all you meet,
Baptizing ever as you go,
Say they yes, or say they no.

SOME persons claim that the Grangers were united against one of the candidates for Magistrate. We think this is true, only so far as, that a few false Grangers used improper means to work for a "close" candidate—and

—Twas a Judge they say
Who spent the day
Follering around them,
Who had a vote,
Making a note
Of Grangers as he found them.

But towards eve
He quick did leave
And thus he did relieve us,
As by his deeds
He sowed the seeds
Of discord to deceive us.

And if our Joe
Had hoed his row
And had not fow the track, sir,
He would have led
It has been said,
Two hundred at his back, sir.

IS a negro difficulty a few miles North of this place, on the Railroad, Delaney Jones, (col.) was wounded by a pistol shot through the lungs, and a severe cut from a razor across the loins. It appears that Jones had a difficulty with two other negroes, and while retreating through the door, he was fired upon by one of them, and the other gave him the razor cut. It is said there is no chance for his recovery. If the officers of the law do not take matters into their hands, we might as well give up the ship. All this crime can be stopped by a strict, rigid enforcement of the law.

HAVING been from town some days, causes this letter to be somewhat mixed, but this we suppose, becomes a

WHAT-NOT.
W. A. COLLIER is receiving one of the heaviest and best selected stocks of Dry Goods and Groceries ever brought to Somerset. Give him a call if you want bargains—you will always find him and his polite clerk ready to wait upon you.

ROBT. GIBSON has just returned from Louisville, bringing with him a full line of Spring and Summer Goods, that can be bought low at Gibson Bro's.

If you want Ladies, Misses and Children's Hats of the latest and most beautiful styles, at lowest prices, go to Mrs. Jones' Millinery shop, up stairs, in W. A. Collier's store.

MR. G. H. ENSEL, the popular and genial owner of the most complete store in Somerset, in addition to all the latest novelties, has received the largest and best selected stock of spring goods ever brought to that market. He is determined never to be out done or undersold, so Grangers, Railroad men, and every one else, will do well to test for themselves his very low prices. Everything from a fish-hook to the most costly article, can be found at the Dutchman's store, so take our advice and carry all your Barter and Cash to G. H. Ensel. You need not ask for credit, however, for our Dutch friend keeps no books, and has a bad recollection. Therefore, he sells only for CASH. Del. ink so.

WE will insert the advertisements of those of our Somerset friends who desire to patronize us, in the column immediately after "What Not" letter, at 20cts per line, (this type.) Those wishing to advertise, can write directly to us.

R. CARSON, PROPRIETOR,
LANCASTER, KY.

The undersigned having purchased the Miller House in Lancaster, Ky., and refitted it up in good style, and is now able to treat his guests with as good accommodations as any Hotel in the interior of Kentucky. Having had thirty years' experience, of and in the business he thinks he knows how to make the traveler feel at home. He has a good bar, and a Clerk conversant with any—the veteran John Romans, who has had years of experience in the business. Good stable well filled with provender, with the best of horses. Thanks to the good people for past favors, and as home is made in this place, we hope you will not be backward in stopping at Lancaster, and especially at the Carson House.
R. CARSON.

HELLO, Henry! What's up? Going to marry? Never saw you dressed so well before. Marry, then! No such luck, but don't they fit, anybody can dress well here; bought this whole suit at the New York Store for $11. What! Come on boys, let's buy 'em out.

LETTERS FROM DRUGGISTS.—There is no case of dyspepsia that Green's August Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of Bolton & Stagg, and inquire about it. If you suffer from Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, or derangement of the Stomach or Liver, try it. Two or three doses will relieve you. Boosche's German Syrup is now sold in every town and city in the United States. We have not less than five hundred letters from Druggists, saying it is the best medicine they ever sold for Consumption, Throat or Lung disease. Sample bottles of both 25 cents each. Regular size 75 cents. Bolton & Stagg.

HORSE JOTTINGS.

Don't forget that next Monday will be County Court day, and horse show day, too.

Col. R. M. Bradley would deliver his long-promised lecture next Monday, he would gratify a number of people.

A LITTLE son of A. R. Vandever, living near our town, died of pneumonia on last Saturday night after a short illness.

MESSRS. VARNON, Luckey, Warren, Miller, Woods, Hucker, and others, left on Wednesday for the State Convention at Frankfort.

REV. G. O. BARNES left here on last Wednesday morning for Chicago, where he will remain and preach for several weeks as an evangelist.

BETTER is scarce about town, and readily commands 25 cents a pound. Eggs are also scarce, and bring 12 1/2 to 15 cents a dozen. Bring them in.

CHARLEY MOORE, a brakeman, in assisting in the make up of a train yesterday morning at Richmond Junction, had his foot very painfully mashed.

SHOCKING robberies are of almost nightly occurrence in this locality. One protection which we would commend is those Yale padlocks at Campbell & Miller's.

THE season is far advanced, and not half of the corn is in the ground. What has been planted is not up, and it is thought that such of it is rotted and will have to be replanted. The outlook to the farmer is not.

THERE were nearly seventy-five indictments preferred against evil-doers at the last term of our Circuit Court, instead of fifty, as reported in our last issue. It is not strange that half of them were for carrying concealed, deadly weapons.

E. B. HAYDEN has just opened one of the largest, most complete and elegant stock of Boots and Shoes, for men women and children, which we have seen in this market. It is a real pleasure to examine them, even though you do not buy.

MR. DEWITT McCURDY died at Hall's "Cap Station" last week, of fever. He was assistant agent for the railroad company, and is highly spoken of by those with whom he had business. He was formerly a citizen of Casey county, and was about 21 years old.

WE learn that Miss Helen Nash and Mr. Burnett will give a performance at the Court House here about the 20th of May.—Burnett is said to be the finest delineator of character and the most wonderfully rapid in reform of face and figure of any living actor.

THE Third Quarterly Meeting of the Methodist Church South, at this place, will commence with services morning and night, on to-morrow (Saturday). Services will also be held at the same hours on Sunday. The Rev. S. N. Hall, Presiding Elder, will officiate.

N. B. TEVIS, of the Great Emporium, has received this week, a superb line of Hats and Caps, suited for men, boys, and children. The latest styles are here, and the hats are neat, cheap, durable, and pretty. Just drop in the first time you pass his store and see whether or not, Mr. Tevis deserves this compliment.

THE meat house of Mr. Wm. Wallace, who lives about two miles from here, was entered by thieves, a night or two since, and several pieces of bacon stolen therefrom—eggs being obtained by digging under the sleepers. Mr. Wallace has obtained a search warrant, but we were unable to learn the result of the search.

The following officers were elected Saturday last: Crab Orchard—Stephen Birchard and Wm. M. Garnet, Justices; Tuck Ballard, Constable. Walnut Flat—Wm. M. Luckey and Craig Lynn, Justices; N. T. Douglas, Constable. Turnersville—John Shelby and John Cash, Justices; Samuel Campbell, Constable. Highland—J. S. Young and Adam Petre, Justices; William Leach, Constable. Hustonsville—Ellis Brown and W. B. Jones, Justices; George Campbell, Constable.

ELDER CARROLL KENDRICK, who has so faithfully labored in our midst for the past two weeks, will commence a series of meetings at Hustonsville, beginning to-day. On the Saturday before the 3d Sunday, at Crab Orchard; at Lancaster on the 4th Sunday and at Danville on the 5th Sunday in this month.

LOUISVILLE ILLUSTRATED.—We are indebted to Messrs. Wheat & Cheney, the extensive wholesale grocers of Louisville, for a copy of the New York Graphic, containing a huge eight page supplement of Louisville illustrated. The fine business house of the above firm is among the many illustrations given in the supplement.

We are informed that Joshua Dye, who was defeated for Magistrate in the Highland district, has written to the County Judge signifying his intention of contesting the election; his grounds therefor being that he was not elected because his name was not put on the polls until 10 o'clock. You should have seen to it earlier, Mr. Dye.

THE election for Magistrates and Constables came off on Saturday last. G. W. Edgett was re-elected Constable in the Stanford Precinct, and W. R. Carson and James McAllister Magistrates. Mr. McAllister's name was not placed on the Poll Book until 9 o'clock, and after fifty odd votes had been recorded, but his popularity carried him into office with a fair majority.

It was of the shallow-brained, contemptible creature who gobbles whistles, and otherwise disturbs the performers and disgusts the audience at a musical concert that Shakespeare wrote these lines: "The man that hath no music in himself, Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds, Is fit for treasons, stratagems, and spoils. The motions of his soul are such as binds No man's sense, but rather his own madness; Let no such man be trusted."

CALICO BALL.—The ball to be given at the Saunders House in Crab Orchard, one week from this evening, bids fair to be a notable event. The parlor and ball room have been renovated and improved; good music provided; all the pretty girls in this and half a dozen other counties invited; abundant and elegant refreshments promised, and above all it is to be a Calico Ball. We have always thought that in the early Spring, when winter robes are just being laid aside, nothing is half so becoming to a young lady, on the promenade, at home, or in the ball room, as the simplicity and freshness of calico, and we expect to have this opinion doubly confirmed on the occasion above referred to.

SHERLEY OATIN, Esq., of Monticello, Ky., died at the residence of Lewis Jones, near Stanford, on Saturday night last. He had been to Nashville and Louisville to purchase goods, and on his arrival here a few days before his death, he was too unwell to proceed on his journey home. He has been suffering for several years with consumption, and contracted measles recently, which, together with the former disease, made him an easy victim of the "grim monster." Mr. Oatin was one of five brothers, all of whom were engaged in partnership in the mercantile business, farming, trading, &c. From those who knew them we learn that they are all men of high integrity and fine business capacity. The deceased was about 43 years of age, and unmarried. His remains were taken to his late home for interment.

WE were under the impression that the Journal was too generally read in Crab Orchard and vicinity for such petty vindictive as these silly tongue-cutters who peddle over the country a composition said to prevent the explosion of Kerosene, to thrive so luxuriantly, for not long since, we endeavored to convince our readers that the "composition" was nothing but colored salt. We are told that notwithstanding this, the good people of Crab Orchard invested in this salt to the amount of $50—enough to buy 25 mules of the same article. One gentleman, it is said, who had just had some slight accident with Kerosene, became so enthusiastic that he bought some five dollars worth of the precious stuff. Another gentleman, however, took the precaution to analyze some of it, and found, as we have heretofore said, nothing but colored salt.—Read the Journal closer, gentlemen, and don't be deceived by windmills.

EVAN SHELLEY.—Major Evan Shelley, formerly for many years a resident of this county, and who was well-known to many of the readers of the Journal, died at his residence in Texas, recently, in the 88th year of his age. He removed from his farm here, to Texas, in 1857, for the purpose, as he stated before leaving here, of prolonging his life by following his hounds in the exciting chase. Major Shelley was the son of Isaac Shelley, Sr., the first Governor of Kentucky, and whose portrait now hangs in the Circuit Court room here. General Shelley commanded the Kentucky troops at the battle of the Thames, and his son was on his staff in the war of 1812-13. We learn from Kentucky history that this was one of the several noted families of the State, the names and deeds of many of whom adorn the pages of that history. Though past the allotted span of life by nearly a score of years, those who knew him here as a large-hearted and useful citizen, tell us that his death will be sincerely mourned.

The Grangers.

At a meeting of Stanford Grange, held May 1st, 1875, the following preamble and resolutions were read, and unanimously adopted.

WHEREAS, We have learned with regret that the Southern Agriculturalist, published at Louisville, Ky., has taken a position in reference to the candidacy for Governor at the approaching election, which, if carried out, will result in virtually destroying one of the cardinal principles of our Order.—

Resolved, by the Stanford Grange of Putnam of Hustonsville, That said position does not meet our approval, for the well known reason, that the Patrons of Husbandry as an Order are emphatically non-political, and any effort on the part of any member, to make it political, should be discontinued by every true friend and brother.

Resolved, That while we, as Patrons, declare the fact so often published, that as an organization, we are, and intend to be, non-political, we, at the same time, declare and say, that as good citizens, and as members of society, we hold ourselves free, like all others, to cast our votes for whom we please, always with due regard to the fitness and moral qualifications of the candidates making our suffrages.

Resolved, That we hereby invite each subordinate Grange in the county, to take action in regard to this subject, before the May Convention shall meet.

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the Interior Journal and Danville Advocate.

JAS. A. HARRIS, M. JOHN BRIGHT, Sec'y.

The "Wendellian Society" Devising Means—Loving Devotion, and a Delighted Audience!

The Amateur Association of ladies and gentlemen of Richmond, under the tutelage and management of Prof. H. F. Hoyer, gave us a delightful musical entertainment at the Court House, on Saturday evening, last. The day, though the first of smiling May, was anything but Spring-like, and the night was dark and inauspicious; notwithstanding which, the Hall was crowded with the critically cultivated music lovers of Lancaster, Danville, Crab Orchard, Richmond and Stanford—an audience amply large to lend all the magnetic stimulus of numbers to the spirit of the performers. The audience were enthusiastic in their appreciation, and fully attested it by frequent applause and heartily applause. The coming of this society to Stanford, followed by more than fifty of the most cultivated citizens of Richmond, was a compliment which our people fully appreciate. Unfortunately, for our own happiness, we were unavoidably absent from home, and besides missing the rare treat of attending the Concert, we were also deprived of the infinite pleasure it would have afforded us of noting in extremis, the performances—especially of those who particularly distinguished themselves. We can, however, say upon the authority of those more capable of judging than myself, that the entertainment in all its varied features, was a most perfect success. The programme was arranged with taste, and was composed of vocal and instrumental pieces far above the capacity of any but educated musicians, and their rendition betokened careful training, patient cultivation, and talent of high order. Of the personal beauty, charming grace, and elegant attire of the ladies of the society, all tongues join in chanting praises. Wishing the accomplished professor and his talented associates, every happiness that the study and practice of the beautiful and elevating science of music can afford, we, in the behalf of the music lovers of Stanford and vicinity, give them a loud, long, and persistent raoee.

Angels Brigadiers.

The average Bohemian is senatorial or nothing. The people in this section who read the Courier-Journal, were much amused, and some of them not a little disgusted when they read an article in that paper last Wednesday, under the above caption. The "outlaw" is therein misnamed the "Roderick" Duke of Kentucky. Amongst all the chaff, however, there is a little, (very little) wheat. He told the reporter that he was as honest in 1850, as he is now. This is granted. But was he ever honest? The popular verdict is in the negative. He was never a Captain, or even a private, but a "hanger on" of the Federal troops, until 1862, when he went out on his own responsibility, and was a terror to this entire region, and on account of the many horses and mules which were stolen by his confederates in crime. No "Kuklux" ever pursued him as stated, but bands of honest men who had lost horses, or whose neighbors had, often went in pursuit of, and occasionally got them, finding them in several cases, tied up and fed in the woods near his house. He gave them up, but always managed to prove that he had "bought them." If so, why tie and keep them in the woods? The hands he worked on his farm, were usually of the same stripe as himself, and one of them is now in our jail, charged with burglary and has a fine prospect of going to the Capital to be hanged. The Hutchinsides—Hartfield spoken of by him, are known to have been his boon companions for a long time, and are now under several indictments of our Court for sterling, &c. Numerous horses have been tracked to his house and "corral." Still, this man says he is innocent, and "never stole anything in his life." Circumstantial evidence is often better than positive proof. The jewelry store robbery is clearly traced to him. The story about the "man in the box," is too absurd to think of. Nothing of the kind occurred. Wheeler was a confederate of B's, undoubtedly. How did he know that Wheeler was in Nicholas county? And why did he go there and ship eggs, a box by Express to his brother in Missouri—containing a gold watch, taken from the Jeweler? This box was stopped in the hands of the Express Company, and the watch recovered, which led to his arrest. Brigadier and Wheeler were all-way regarded as particeps criminis. Why did Wheeler offer to give Brigadier four or five watches to help him (B.) buy a compromise with the Jeweler? How did W. "treat him meanly anyhow"—as stated in his conversation? Possibly, because he did not divide the spoils properly. The romance about Sheriff Napier and Mrs. B., is all bosh, for Napier was after him long as he lived. His 900 acres of land, of which he boasts, is worth about $1,500, and is covered by mortgages. The idea of making a persecuted "hero" of a horse thief and burglar, and throwing around him the romance of a second-rate dime novel, has anything but a wholesome effect upon the minds of the people. Let the many persons all over this and other counties, whose valuable horses have been stolen by him and his partisans in crime, and whose houses have been plundered at night by them, discountenance any and every effort to soften the rigors of those laws, which, according to our information, he has so daringly outraged.

LARD, STOCK, AND CROP ITEMS.

THERE will be a four days' meeting at Dexter Park—running and trotting—commencing July 26. $25,000 will be given in purses.

AN orchardist informed us this week that from an inspection of several orchards there still, after all, be a partial crop of Fall and Winter apples from buds that were dormant when the freeze came.

BUT little wheat, comparatively, was injured in this county, and owing to the fact that a larger average was sown last Fall than the year before, the coming crop, however, other things being favorable, quite equal to that of 1874.

RICHMOND COURT-DAY Sales.—Major Hille's report: "Court-day—more than 150 cattle on the market, nothing good. All sold at prices ranging from 4 to 5c. Not more than 100 mules of all kinds. Prices fairly sustained. All sold. Good broke mules offered from $125 to $175. Good horse mules offered and generally sold at pretty fair prices.—Paris Free Press.

WE were from the Nashville papers that Withers & Shanks' 3-year-old bay filly, "Laura Guest," was distanced in the mile heats at the races there this week. The race was won by Lilly's horse, "George Graham." This filly is a fine and promising animal, notwithstanding, and may do better next time.

LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS.

MILKEDVILLE, KY., May 4, 75.

Correspondence Interior Journal.

THE long cold rains and frosts have kept the farmers very backward with their corn planting, and it is thought by those who planted prior to the cold snap will have to plow up and plant again.

WE are to have a spelling match on Friday evening, when there will, no doubt, be a big turnout.

THE foundation, of we ought to say, all trouble, vice and immorality was again laid in our village on yesterday evening.

THE Grange at this place is progressing finely, having already over fifty members. Their meetings are on the second and fourth Saturdays of each month.

RELIGIOUS.—Elder Z. B. Shackelford, of the Christian church, preaches here on the 1st, 3d and 4th Sundays of each month.—Rev. Jno. Hamilton, of the M. E. Church is to preach here on the 1st Sunday in June. G. P.

CRAB ORCHARD, May 5, 1875.

Correspondence Interior Journal.

I THINK it a positive shame that Crab Orchard, "the mountain environment gem," has not a single representative in her county paper. The absence of wiser and more experienced writers I will endeavor to give the local news.

MR. THOMAS has sold his interest in the Crab Orchard Springs to his partner, Col. Shelby.

MISS ANSIE, daughter of Col. Shelby, left for Europe last Monday. There were many red eyes among her former schoolmates, and we fear there were some good ones likewise.

THE young ladies of Crab Orchard Springs College intended having a May celebration on Saturday last, but it has been postponed a short time. The enviable position of "Queen of Flowers" was unanimously awarded to Miss Ella Evans.

THE Crab Orchard Debating Society is still in existence, and meets every Monday night. Always divers of intricate questions which have perplexed the minds of sages for ages have been cleared of their mysteries by these orators, and disposed of to time to come, at least so far as this society is concerned.

THE recent cold spell has retarded the appearance of vegetation. Many gardeners that had formed high anticipations of early vegetables have been doomed to disappointment, and are now reseeded, consulting themselves with the thought, "Late sowing is better than no sowing."

SEVERAL ladies of our town have manifested a love for the beautiful by sending for handsome collections of flowers.

A SUNDAY-SCHOOL, has been recently organized at the Christian church under the most favorable auspices. Dr. Frisbie, Superintendent, and Mr. J. G. Livingston, assistant. Our town can now boast of two Sabbath schools, both of which are in a flourishing condition.

THE election, on last Saturday, was attended with a great deal of whiskey-drinking and noise, but nothing serious resulted from it. MAY.

HUSTONVILLE, KY., May 4, 1875.

Correspondence Interior Journal.

LETTERS have been received from Mrs. Wm. Carpenter, now at Seguin, Texas, announcing the death of her father, Mr. Evan Shelley, late of this county, on the 19th of April, in the 91st year of his age. This event will be of sad interest to a large number of our readers. Mr. Shelley was widely known as a citizen of Lincoln, and universally esteemed as a fine specimen of the Kentucky gentleman, of the old school—a class of men who, we regret to say, are rapidly passing away.

MISS SUSIE CARPENTER is making preparation to join her relatives in Texas shortly. She will probably go out with Mr. Champe Carter and lady, who are now at Stanford. We greatly regret to lose Miss Susie, but trust she will meet with all the good fortune she merits, in her new home. But eyes unused to weep, will be moist when she takes her departure.

At the request of Elder W. L. Williams, we make the inside household, by stating that we were mistaken in our conjecture in reference to his horse having been led in consequence of a payment on his salary. He says, however, palliative to the offense of the horse, and however creditable to the congregation this view of the case might be, it is, nevertheless, not in accordance with the fact. No such payment has been made, and he is fearful that some of his people may be deluded by having read the statement in the paper, into the belief that they have actually delivered their conscience in currency. We are glad to make the correction, for we confess we hardly believed the thing was true at first. He did kick out of the buggy, though; we stick to that.

OUR cheerful friend Wm. Lucas, made a narrow escape, in a similar misadventure last week. He was returning from Stanford alone, driving a young and fiery horse which took fright near E. D. Kennedy's, became totally ungovernable, dashed the buggy against the fence, smashing both fence and vehicle pretty generally—and after running madly, near a mile, freed himself from the fragments at the toll-gate, and came on to town to announce the disaster. Mr. Lucas escaped with a few trifling bruises, but comes pretty near swearing that he will stick to the "old yaller" hereafter.

THERE is a report current, that there was a fire held somewhere in Hustonsville, on Saturday last, and that E. W. Brown and Will Rice Jones, were elected Magistrates, and Geo. C. Campbell, Constable. This is all right. If we put in all our wild ones as peace officers, we may look for quiet times. That office is no sine-cure, however. No longer ago than yesterday, it was discovered that the majesty of the law had been outraged by Squire McKinney, a half-witted negro, whose only mental development is an idiosyncrasy for petty larceny. A search was made. An endless variety of "unconsidered trifles" found in his possession, led Squire was arrested, tied last night by the code of a Medici Albanian, expounded by the light of a tallow candle—and sent on to Stanford to jail this morning. Be kind to him, Buford, he is clever, in his way.

JOHN McCARTEN, was found dead in a yard in town on Saturday morning. He had been laboring for some days under delirium tremens, escaped from his room in the night, and perished alone, as related. McC. was an Irishman, and an excellent workman as a shoe-maker. A few of the young men conveyed his remains to the cemetery, where he was decently buried. He was in a destitute condition, but a man of fine sense and sterling honesty. FAIRFAX.

GARRARD COUNTY NEWS.

DAN M. ANDERSON sold to Hume, the Distiller at Silver Creek, 200 barrels of corn at $3 50 per barrel.

R. BOYLE and J. V. Cook, were elected Magistrates, and Capt. Ike Singleton, re-elected Constable in the Lancaster precinct.

LOCAL OPTION was defeated in the town precinct, by a majority of 47. And so the ardent will still live there for the good or evil of the people.

BOYLE COUNTY NEWS.

DANVILLE, KY., May 5th, 1875.

Correspondence Interior Journal.

THE vote on the Local Option Law was taken in this county last Saturday. Every District voted separately, and while there was a majority of votes against liquor in the county, still we are sorry to say, that in Danville, where, of all places, the most good should have been expected, the Local Option Law was defeated. The negroes voted for whiskey. The West End took a bold stand for Temperance, and once again, banished from her districts, the selling of Intoxicating Drink. Well-done for Perryville and Parksville. Shelby City came off in favor of whiskey by 15 votes.—The election for Magistrates and Constables also took place last Saturday. A colored man was candidate for Constable in the Fourth District, but we are happy to say was defeated.

THE NATHAN L. RICE left Danville last Thursday morning for Fulton, Mo., where he will spend his summer vacation.

ACCORDING to appointment, Rev. J. H. Brooks, D. D. of St. Louis, delivered a lecture to the Theological Students of this place last Wednesday evening. The Second Presbyterian Church was well filled.—Dr. Brooks is a remarkably handsome man. He is about six feet three inches in height, well proportioned, and his face beams with intelligence. It is seldom we see so fine a specimen of humanity in the pulpit. He at once impresses one with his depth of piety, and with his elegant simplicity of oratory.

A GENTLEMAN and his wife, from New Orleans, visited Danville last week with a view of purchasing property and settling here for the purpose of educating their sons in "Old Centre." X. Y. Z.

WE learn that so soon as the right of way has been settled in Fayette county, the work will be immediately let. There are agents there at present settling with those who have come to terms.

THERE seems to us a vast deal of valuable time wasted by the Trustees in deciding the awards of contracts. Several of the lighter sections of the road might be built while the time is thus consumed. Neither the Barker nor Grant county work has yet been awarded.

A MAN named Zack, Albright was this week arrested at the instigation of Mr. Marshall McKay for appropriating, with a view of turning them to his own pecuniary advantage, sundry railroad tools belonging to Mr. McKay. Proof being conclusive against Albright he was sent on for indictment by the grand jury, and being unable to give bail is now boarding at the expense of the people of Pulaski county, in their very insecure jail.

A COUPLE of negroes, on Mr. Thomas Ballou's farm, in Pulaski, decided to settle their little difficulty by a resort to firearms, and there would have been one possibly two Radical votes less in the next election—had not D. H. Vaughn, a white man, arrived. He remembered the divine promise, "Blessed are the peacemakers," and spring in between the contestants, receiving for his trouble a ball in his shoulder, which ranged around to the collar, bone finally lodging in the neck, where it yet remains. The doctors say his wound, though very painful, is not necessarily fatal. The negroes escaped.

AFTER two months delay, the Trustees have at last awarded the bids over the Kentucky River to the Baltimore Bridge Company, of Baltimore, at $277,500. The following is the proposed plan of the work: "The superstructure will be an iron truss resting on abutments and two piers. It will be at the top 275 feet above the bed of the river, and 1,000 feet in length, each of the three spans being 336 feet long. The piers will be 38 feet above the foundation of masonry. Upon this masonry will rest iron columns 176 feet in height. From the top of the iron piers to the top of the bridge, will be 38 feet—making the 275 feet from the bed of the river. The piers will be elliptical in form, the dimensions at the top of the masonry being 30 by 124 feet. One of the spans will stretch across the stream, and the others will reach to either bank. The banks are very high and favorable to bridge building."

OBITUARY.

LEAVEL.—Died, on the first day of April, 1875, at his residence near Camden Point, Plate county, Missouri, of congestive chill, Archibald T. Leavel, in the fifty-second year of his age. He was born and raised on Logan's Creek, in Lincoln county, Ky., and received his education at the old Seminary in Stanford. He was married in 1842 to Elizabeth L. Logan, daughter of John Logan, and removed to Plate county, Mo., in 1855, where he remained until his death. He embraced the Christian religion, when quite young, and continued ever after an earnest, zealous and devoted Christian. He was, at the time of his death, an Elder of the Christian Church at Camden Point, and a member of the Board of Directors of the Camden Point Female Orphan School. He leaves a wife and six children, and a host of friends to mourn his loss, but we believe their loss is his eternal gain. J. R. L.
